Pöyry

Deltek delivers robust financial and project management to international consulting & engineering firm

Pöyry is an international consulting and engineering company that provides services across the full project lifecycle, solving complex challenges faced by the energy, industry and infrastructure sectors. Pöyry has approximately 5,500 experts across 40 countries delivering 10,000 projects each year. As a global firm, Pöyry wanted a single, integrated ERP solution that could provide transparency and real-time visibility into finance and projects, while streamlining operations and enhancing collaboration. After evaluating a number of solutions, Pöyry selected Deltek and has experienced numerous benefits including increased visibility and better collaboration across the entire business.

Pöyry

Challenges

- Pöyry required transparency and real-time visibility to ensure control over their global operations.
- Its previous ERP system lacked the necessary insight into finance and projects to position Pöyry for growth.
- Pöyry wanted to move towards enhancing the quality of interactions internally, in order to build stronger and richer collaborations globally.
- The organization required a robust yet agile ERP solution that would enable it to handle the complexity of global projects from both a functionality and technological perspective.

Solution

- Pöyry considered a number of solutions including SAP, NetSuite and MS Dynamics before selecting Deltek as its trusted partner for a scalable, secure, robust and high performance solution, globally.
- Pöyry was drawn to the fact that Deltek shared a laser focus on project management, deep innovation and commitment to making knowledge accessible for collaborative decision making.
- Pöyry uses Deltek ERP to deliver robust project management, reporting and analytics, and financial organization. The single integrated solution is used globally, providing a deeply secure but internally borderless environment, for optimal collaboration.

Benefits

- With Deltek's ERP support, Pöyry has responded to the competitive landscape by accelerating the implementation of its 2019 strategic financial goals and improvement of operating margins.
- With a focus on project and information delivery, Pöyry has seen vast improvements in usability, placing its staff in the best position to collaborate with precision and speed.
- Deltek's transparent, secure, real-time analytics have improved performance and visibility for project managers across geographically diverse projects.
- Deltek enables Pöyry to foster interactive and effortless engagements while allowing the organization to be even closer to clients, eliminate internal complexity and increase efficiencies.

“We knew the timeline would be extremely challenging but it ensured that we never lost momentum in the project. On top of that we stayed well in the budget.”
